

Did You Know

By Pat J. Klrwin

THAT the present Ohio legislature may have its faults, but the assembly which met in 1874 was one of the most lax in the state's history, according to Circleville newspapers of the time. The Herald and Union of Jan. 6, 1874, recounts the following:

"Our legislative solons, to a great extent, foregathered in Columbus on Monday and quartered around for the best board. Having greeted the servant girls and chuckled them under the chin, they answered roll call in both branches and heard a short letter from Governor William (Rise Up) Allen. The governor's message is in the paper, so the readers may judge for themselves the "fat and figures." Being short, it will be popular among the printers.

"Among the first acts of the General Assembly was the dickering with the Adair law. Drinks all around, first, of course. Mr. Hollister (R) of Hamilton-co, moved to investigate the virtuous Dr. Jenner. Others thought differently . . . tabled . . .

That the following item appeared in a Circleville newspaper 60 years ago this month: "A young man says the prettiest girl in town wears blue-topped stockings and she is not afraid to show 'em. He saw them hanging on a line in the backyard."

That baseball games were a popular diversion in Circleville 60 years ago, but it required longer than an afternoon to play a game. According to newspapers of the time, the Nameless club of Circleville and the Matchless team of Chillicothe played a game on the grounds near the C. and M. V. depot in April, 1874. At the end of seven innings, the score was 53 to 8, with Circleville leading. With super time near, the teams stopped playing and went to the Pickaway House where they enjoyed a bountiful meal. Out 7 p. m. was called and the game ended at 5 with Circleville winning 10 to 0.

HAT the city's two large pork packers of 60 years ago, after S. H. Ruggles, John Groce and Son, had of their most successful ones in 1874. As The Herald of the time commented: "The fat porkers are RUGLING the fat porkers." The end of the season 1900 and Son had 35,000 hams in stock and the average daily slaughter for the Ruggles plant was three and one-half hogs per minute, newspapers report.

That the town's citizens were startled in March, 1874, when a balloon passed over the city. Newspapers commented that "all the naval fighting will be done in balloons in 1874."

That here are a few news-bits of 60 years ago: "Dr. H. R. Clarke is fitting up rooms for himself and wife in Mrs. Nightengale's house."

"At a meeting of the city council it was ordered that the city buildings be insured in the sum of $2,500."

There may now be seen at the store of J. Sewyer and Son, E. Main-st., a radish which weighed two and one-half pounds when taken up and cleaned.

Watt-st has been gravelled between Pickaway and Washington-sts and the sidewalks are now being graded.

U.S. TO STUDY POWER RATES

Government To Gather Data On Private, Public Plants Over Nation.

TO INFORM CONGRESS

Federal Men Not To Determine Rate Fairness.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 21.—The Federal Power commission will conduct a study and survey of public utility rates in Circleville during the present year, it was announced today by Frank McNinch, chairman of the commission.

The commission in its investigation will not attempt to pass on the fairness of the rates in Circleville, the chairman said, but all data and information assembled will be made available to local and state authorities to be used by them in any way they may wish.

Similar studies will be made throughout the country. It will be approximately two weeks before the commission will know when it will begin its survey in Circleville. However, under a resolution passed by Congress providing funds for the work the entire survey covering cities throughout the nation must be completed and a report submitted to Congress when it convenes on January 2, 1935. Both privately and publicly owned plants will be studied and surveyed.

The reason the commission will not pass judgment on the fairness and accuracy of the local rates in Circleville and other cities where Chairman McNinch said, is because the commission feels this phase of the matter is out of its jurisdiction and should be left to local utility commissions and other local regulatory bodies.

The commission, however, believes that Circleville will get a great deal of information from the survey that will aid in handling its local utility problems.

NEW YORK, April 21.—For the first time in its 145 year history famous old Tammany hall found itself leaderless today.

Six Hurt, Four Arrested in Barborton Glass Co. Trouble

OTHER STRIKES ON

Governor Hands Plea to Gen. Henderson

By International News Service
While Gov. George White was asked to send troops into Summit-co where a strike is in progress, labor disputes on many other Ohio fronts also assumed serious proportions today.

After six men were hurt and four others arrested in hand-to-hand encounters at the Columbia plant of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company at Barborton, the four railroads that have switch tracks into the factory demanded that Gov. White provide protection for movement of trains.

Gov. White, it was said, referred the request to Adj. Gen. Frank Henderson, commander of the Ohio National guard. The latter was of the opinion, however, that Sheriff Ray Potts who had assigned 25 deputies to the Barborton plant, could maintain order, it was understood.

Violence broke out at the plate glass company when a crowd gathered at a railroad gate. It was alleged, struck a bystander with a club and the crowd badly mauled the officer. Later, a group of four men was run down by an automobile rushing into the plant. Four persons were arrested by Sheriff Potts as a result of the disorders.

Officials of the plant offered to accept the strikers' plea for wage increases but refused to rehire eight workers who were identified with the strike movement. The strikers were to ballot on the proposals today.

Meanwhile, a strike at the American Hard Rubber company at Barborton, where 500 men walked out, was settled and the employees will return to work Monday with a 10 per cent wage increase.

Settlement of the latter strike was the only victory of conciliators of the government who are attempting to end the labor troubles.

At Cleveland and Ravenna, 1,600 employees of the Cleveland Western mills remained out on strike. A ruling from the National Labor board, which conducted a hearing, is awaited before peace negotiations are resumed.

GAS STRIKE CONTINUES
Cleveland also was the scene of a strike of 2,000 attendants of 20 major gasoline companies. Although the companies tendred a truce, providing that the strikers return to work pending negotiations, the offer was turned down flatly.

Harry G. Stevenson remains serious at White Cross hospital. Attaches reported Saturday afternoon that he had a poor night, Friday.

BIBLE 'NOTES' TO DILLINGER AIDE SCANNED

Underscored Bible Passages Believed Warning of Escape Plan

MAILED IN CHICAGO

Guard Dillinger's Girl on Way to Trial

COLUMBUS, April 21.—Taking no chances, officials of Ohio penitentiary here today were withholding from Harry Pierpont, one-time "trigger man" for the John Dillinger gang, two letters addressed to him and containing a pamphlet of marked Bible quotations which easily could have a double-meaning.

The marked Biblical passages, prison officials believe, might be an attempt on the part of the fugitive Dillinger to communicate with Pierpont, who now is held in the penitentiary awaiting execution in the electric chair for the slaying of Sheriff Jess L. Sarber at Lima, O., last Oct. 12.

Discovery of the suspected letters was made by prison attaches who peruse the voluminous mail received daily at the penitentiary for Pierpont and Charles Makley, another former Dillinger associate who also is under sentence to die in the electric chair next July 13.

TEST TWO LETTERS

The first letter, which drew the suspicion of prison officials, was received a week ago, according to Warden Preston E. Thomas. It contained a pamphlet of St. John's gospel, which had been marked and underscored. A second letter, which enclosed another pamphlet of St. John's gospel, was received at the prison last Monday.

Among the passages in the pamphlet which had been marked was one which said, "Have no fear: Jesus has come once, he will come again."

Another passage which had been marked reads: "Let not your heart be troubled; ye believe in God, believe also in me."

In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you."

The quotations, Warden Thomas said, could easily have a double-meaning, relating to the plans of Dillinger to rescue his former Continued on Page Three

BANDIT SLAIN IN GUN FIGHT

Another May Die, Third Is Caught in Running Battle in Nebraska.

LINCOLN, Neb., April 21.—Walter Dean, 28, former Texas penitentiary convict, lay near death today from bullet wounds which authorities sought to learn the identity of a companion who was slain in a spectacular running gun fight with police.

Both men shot and a third gunman, Sam Rivette, of Galveston, Tex., was captured unharmed when their automobile overturned as it struck a railroad track ten miles outside of Lincoln. Dean said his home was at Oklahoma City.

Lucien Marshall, 13, was shot through the abdomen by a rifle bullet fired from the bandit car during the chase which began on Lincoln's main thoroughfare.

Dean underwent an operation but was given only a fighting chance to live.

Better Days Are Here Again

NEW OUTRAGE IS DISCLOSED

Little Girl Serious After Attack; Boy, 9, Confesses Brutal Crime.

CHICAGO, April 21.—Three new moronic attacks upon young children today sent Chicago police and medical school authorities into a concerted effort to identify and segregate mononic school children.

The latest case, the fourth during the past two weeks, was that of a 4-year-old girl, attacked and mutilated by a "curious" boy wielding a steel file. The victim, Viola Betty Pederson, was in a serious condition in her home while the assailant, 9-year-old Kenneth Palmeter, was held by juvenile authorities.

Heured Betty into a garage, Kenneth, a third grade pupil, has confessed the crime, almost a parallel to the tragic death last week of Dorette Zielow, 2½ year old. Calmly admitting his offense, the boy declared he "got the idea" from discussing the Zielow case.

M'GHEE DIVORCE

Charging that she has been forced to flee to neighbors for safety and that her husband has been guilty of extreme cruelty, Mrs. Matilda McGhee, Fayette-co, has filed suit for divorce in Fayette-co common pleas court from Rex McGhee, Pickaway-co.

The McGhees were married Sept. 23, 1932, and have no children.

The petition says that Mrs. McGhee furnished $22,500 to buy 245 acres of land in Marion-twp, Fayette-co, and that the deed was drawn in her husband's name without her knowledge. The money paid off a $10,000 mortgage and stocked the farm. Mrs. McGhee claims. She wants the deed to the property changed to her name and a restraining order to prevent Mr. McGhee from removing any stock or other furnishings from the farm.

Gov. Rolph Sued For $1,050,000

SAN FRANCISCO, April 21.—Gov. James Rolph, Jr., named defendant in a $1,050,000 damage suit emanating from the San Jose, Cal., lynchings, refused to comment today "until I have received the official papers."

The suit was filed by Mrs. Evelyn Holmes, widow of John M. Holmes, who was lynched November 26 at San Jose with Thomas Thurmond for the kidnapping and murder of young Brooke Hart.

Sheriff William J. Ennis of Santa Clara-co, 100 "John Does," and 10 others including a radio station and a newspaper were named as co-defendants with the governor.

The suit accused Governor Rolph of violating his oath of office to uphold the state constitution by making public announcement that he would give no protection to the prisoners (Holmes and Thurmond) who were taken from jail by the mob.

LARGE RURAL AREA IS TAX DELINQUENT

Moore Compiles Census of Unincorporated Areas in 19 Ohio Counties; Pickaway's Percentage of Area Delinquent Is 26; Madison's 29 and Lorain's 33.

COLUMBUS, April 21.—Extent of tax delinquency in the rural areas of 19 Ohio counties ranges from 10 to 33 per cent, it is learned from a census of tax returns now being compiled for rural counties by H. R. Moore of the department of rural economics of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

Without exception tax delinquency in the counties rose steadily from 1928 to 1932. The extremely high rate of delinquency in some of the counties is contributed to by the high assessment rates in some areas.

GARNER BOY HIT BY AUTO

School Pupil Steps From Behind Automobile Into Path of Thomas Car.

Robert Garner, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Garner, 8 Pickaway-st., is recovering from injuries Saturday after stepping into the path of the automobile driven by Herbert Thomas, at noon Friday.

Garner has a badly lacerated left leg, a cut right eyelid and numerous cuts and bruises. It is reported the youth stepped from behind a parked car into the path of the Thomas automobile.

Thomas was called into police court to give his version of the accident and was released by Mayor W. B. Cady.

Garner is the third pupil struck by an automobile this week. Burton Deming, Jr., and Charles Will be struck by the car of Frank Wilson. The driver in the latter case was deprived of his rights to drive for six months.

Dr. E. R. Austin treated the Garner boy's injuries.

NEW FEATURES CONSIDERED PUMPKIN SHOW

School Parade, Fiddlers' Contest, Auto Show Among 1934 Plans

DIRECTORS MEET

Society to Solicit Funds From Business Men

Circleville's 1934 Pumpkin Show is more than five months away but that fact doesn't prevent the show's directors from making plans for the big attraction which is scheduled October 3, 4, 5 and 6.

Mayor W. B. Cady, who is president of the show by virtue of his office, called his directors together Friday evening to discuss possible additions, alterations, and new features that might add to the success of the event which is looked forward to annually by all Pickaway-co and central Ohio.

All directors except Stanley Lewis, director of the horse show who is ill, were present.

PLAN SEVERAL THINGS

Following are some of the things advocated by the directors: Mayor Cady: A county-wide school parade to be one of the biggest features of the show.

Solicitation of funds from merchants to help dispose of a surplus which prevailed last fall when there was no solicitation. The Rotary Club will be asked to handle the solicitation.

More extensive decoration of city including business places, to be under the supervision of Kiwanis club.

An old fiddler's contest, as of Mayor Cady: Consideration of an amateur show, also advocated by Mayor Cady.

A Boy Scout exhibit and addition of a department dedicated to show for Boy Scouts, a director just as the directors of the event.

Earlier decorations to be made and premium list.

The last school parade staged in 1928. Since then the Pumpkin Show society has been unable to obtain the sanction of the parade from the various principals of the county.

A concerted effort to have a school parade was one of the features in the last 10 years and it is believed another just as large can be arranged this year.

AGAIN NEEDS MONEY

The Pumpkin show did not ask funds from merchants last fall, deciding to go along without their contributions but a loss was sustained. It was deemed advisable to again ask contributions.

A number of out-of-town factors to the big show have mentioned that one of the factors is the insufficient decoration of the streets. The society believes that much better decoration is possible so will ask the Kiwanis club to handle this phase of the work.

Directors for the 1934 Pumpkin show include R. G. Colville, department No. 1; L. T. Shaner, department No. 2; William M. Best, department No. 3; G. J. Nickerson, department No. 4; Guy Dowdy, department No. 5; L. J. Johnson, department No. 6; T. D. Krim, department No. 7; Proctor Laughman, department No. 8, and H. Stanley Lewis, department No. 9. If a Boy Scout department is provided that will be department No. 10.

DEVELOPING ONE'S BETTER SELF

There is a better side and a worse side of human nature and it is for the individual to decide which side he wants to develop. The mood of worship makes it easy for the better side of human nature to come into the ascendancy.

Because the worshiper is in the purifying presence of God and because he has fixed his mind upon truth, it follows naturally that he will be led to approve the best that he has known and that he will move to a higher level of idealism than he has previously known. Why not accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY?

IMMORTALITY

The story is told of a physician who was visiting one of his patients and as he was leaving, the sick man said: "Doctor, am I going to get well?"

The doctor was a Christian, but he hesitated and said, well I don't know; you're a pretty sick man."

The dying man took him by the hand and whispered "I don't want to die; tell me what lies on the other side."

The doctor answered quietly, "My dear sir, I wish I could tell you, but I do not know."

They talked a minute and as the doctor opened the door to go, a dog sprang into the room and leaped on him with delight. Turning to the sick man, the doctor resumed: "Did you observe that? This is my dog. He has never been in this room before. He knew nothing except that his master was here and so he jumped in without fear. I cannot tell you what's on the other side but I know the Master is there and that is enough. When he opens the door I expect to pass in without fear to his presence."

Improved Uniform International LESSON

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, © 1934, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for April 22

OUR ALL FOR THE KINGDOM

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 19:16-30. GOLDEN TEXT—I have showed you all things, how that so laboring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive.—Acts 20:35.

PRIMARY TOPIC—A Poor Rich Man.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Giving Jesus First Place.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Right Use of Money.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Stewardship of Possessions.

The lesson title is likely to be misunderstood and the teaching misapplied. Jesus did not direct, nor by implication, teach that eternal life can be obtained by parting with possessions. In his dealing with the young man, Jesus showed him his erroneous notion as to personal goodness and endeavored to reveal unto him his own essential nature.

I. A Certain Young Man Came to Jesus (v. 16).

For a full view of the characteristics of this man see Mark 10:17-30 and Luke 18:18-30.

a. His virtues.

1. Courageous (Mark 10:7). He was of high standing, a rich young ruler (Luke 18:18, 23). To come to Jesus at this time meant to this young man ostracism from national fellowship. It required real courage for him to come to Jesus.

b. Earnest (Mark 10:17). He came and knelt before Jesus, thus showing his sincere earnestness.

c. High aspirations (v. 16). He wanted eternal life. There was an aching void in his soul in the midst of pleasures which worldly affluence brings.

d. Pious and moral (v. 20). From youth up he professed to have conformed to God's holy law. He possessed such magnanimity of soul as to call forth Christ's love.

e. He believed that Jesus could inform him of the "good thing" to be done, to inherit eternal life.

2. His mistaken notions.

a. About Christ (v. 16). He esteemed Jesus to be good but did not apprehend him to be God.

b. Concerning himself. He was self-righteous. He thought he was good and that he could do something good.

c. Concerning eternal life. He thought that eternal life could be obtained by good works.

II. Christ Dealing With the Young Man (vv. 17-22).

Jesus skillfully led the young man to see his errors and then put his finger on the weak spot in his life.

1. Jesus' question (v. 17). "Why callest thou me good?"

Jesus called him a chance to answer he declared that only God was good, as if to say, "I am good and therefore I am God."

2. Jesus' answer to the young man's question (vv. 17-20). "If thou wilt enter into life, keep the commandments." Jesus here met him on his own ground, namely that of the law. The law reveals sin and thus shuts the mouth of a self-righteous sinner (Rom. 3:19). The law curses instead of saves (Gal. 3:10). The gospel was given to save men from the curse (Rom. 1:10, 17).

3. Christ's command (v. 21). Replying to Christ's citation of the commandments of the law the young man glibly asserted that he had kept them all from his youth up. In Christ's command to go and sell his possessions and distribute them to the poor, he put his finger upon the weak spot.

4. The young man's decision (v. 22). He decided against Christ. In the supreme test he chose his wealth and let Jesus go.

III. The Relation of the Rich to the Kingdom of Heaven (vv. 23-26).

This teaching concerning the peril of riches was most timely. Covetousness was fast taking hold of the people. Judas, one of the disciples, was well under its sway.

1. It is difficult for the rich to enter the kingdom (vv. 23, 24). This difficulty lies not in the possession of riches but in trusting riches. The step from possession to trusting is a very short one. Riches are deceitful (Matt. 13:22). The tendency of increasing wealth is to destroy the nobler life of the soul. It lulls into security (Rev. 3:17); it leads to self-indulgence (1 Tim. 6:9), and to pride (Ezek. 28:5). Entrance of the rich into the kingdom is possible though difficult (vv. 25, 26).

a. It is possible for the grace of God to change a man from self-seeking to self-sacrifice.

d. It is possible for the grace of God to make men humble.

IV. Rewards for Following Christ (vv. 27-30).

The help of God is the only hope of man.

Brains and religion makes a combination hard to beat.

TO WHAT EXTENT SHALL THE YOUNG PEOPLE BUILD THEIR OWN PROGRAM FOR THEIR MEETINGS?

The program shall be built by those for whom the meetings are held; the best program is not superimposed by some national organization; the young people know best their own problems and it is in their group that the best suggestions for a program arise. Wise leaders will welcome suggestions from any reliable source. In well organized meetings there will be adult advisers who will keep in the background but may serve well in relating subjects of local and personal interest with programs and interests touching the needs of larger groups, ever watching the needs of the world.

STEPS ARE TAKEN TO FORM EIGHT-TEAM SOFTBALL LOOP

Excellent Meeting Held Friday Evening With Number of Teams Represented; Work to Start on Field Next Week, With Service Department in Charge; All Players Must Live Here or Be Employed Here.

Initial steps were taken, Friday evening, to form a Circleville Softball League. About 25 interested persons gathered in The Herald office to discuss the possibilities of a league, rules and regulations, officers, entrance fee, and other questions of importance.

At present six teams are practically certain to be in the fold. They are the Container Corporation, Circleville Oil, Mecca Restaurant, Franklin Inn, Circle City dairy and Carl Palm's restaurant. Representatives from all these companies attended Friday's meeting. Those that were not definite were expected to announce their decision early next week. Coach Peter Herberholz, of the high school, was also present and announced that if seven teams are obtained he will see that the eighth is provided. He has a number of high school athletes who can play pretty fair softball.

Lester Harris, who operated the Panthers last year was also at the meeting and said he would be ready to seek a berth for his colored team if a backer can be obtained.

MAY BE OTHERS

There is a possibility that one or two other industry-backed teams can be obtained.

The next meeting of enthusiasts is called for next Friday evening in the Herald office.

Some of the rules determined at Friday's meeting were:

All players entered in the league must live in Circleville or be employed in Circleville.

The entrance fee shall be $5 payable next Friday.

Each team shall be allowed 12 players the list to be presented next Friday with the signature of each player on the roster.

The league will open May 7, the first Monday in the month. Games will start at 6:30 p.m. until later in the year when darkness falls earlier.

The 12-in. out-seam ball shall be used on a 60-foot diamond. Each team shall furnish its own balls and each team should put a new ball in play each game.

HAS CITY AID

The league, which will be definitely organized next Friday evening when all managers and captains are to be present, has been assured of the cooperation of the city department. William Justice, service director, attended Friday and said he would be ready to do whatever is necessary to get the field in shape. Mayor W. B. Cady has avowed his assistance.

Boy Scouts have cleaned all the corn stubbles off the lot which is being donated to the league by the Southern Ohio Electric Co. In addition to having their entry fee and list of players ready to present next Friday, all managers should be able to announce the color of jersey he plans to buy. The Container Corporation has announced it will have an orange body with black trimming, the company's color, while the Circleville Oil team will don the same uniforms it had last year, yellow jerseys with black lettering.

R. E. Norris will manage the C. C. of A. team which will be confined to its own employees; Bob Herdman and Pete Kelzsch will operate the Franklin Inn team; Earl Imler will probably manage the Circle City dairy team to be backed by Ward Robinson; Dorthy Courtwright will be in charge of Glenn Nickerson's Circleville Oil; Cum Robinson will handle the Mecca restaurant entry. Several youths represented Carl Palm's aggregation.

EXPENSE NOT LARGE

The expense of operating a recreation ball team is not expected to be great this year. The entry fee of $5 is necessary and so are jerseys and caps. The outfits bought by the Circleville Oil Co. last year, the best available, cost only $20 for 12 complete outfits. Bats and balls are not expensive. The league will not have to buy bags for the bases, a home plate, pitcher's slab, or scoreboard since all are now available. It is planned to put a cable fence around the actual playing field to keep crowds and automobiles back, and it has been determined to build a backdrop behind the plate.

It will be necessary for the league moguls to determine what rules should be followed and to select a list of umpires at next Friday's meeting.

An official of the Raifston-Purina Milling Co. disclosed Saturday that he could not obtain any co-operation from the production department concerning a team but would try to get some aid from the sales department of the organization.

Something definite is expected to be known early next week.

HOMERS WIN FOR MINNEAPOLIS '9

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 21.—Although Kansas City pounded out 17 hits in the opening game with Minneapolis here yesterday, the Millers today climbed into a tie for first place by defeating the Blues, 10 to 8, in 11 innings.

The Millers collected "only" 12 hits, but made them count for runs. Joe Hauser led the attack with a brace of home runs and his teammate, Spencer Harris, got another in the eleventh with the walking Ogorek on base to clinch the victory.

Glenn Wright, who got four hits, tied the game in the ninth inning when he raced from first base to home to score the tying run on Connatser's double.

The Columbus-Indianapolis, Louisville-Toledo and St. Paul - Milwaukee games were postponed because of cold weather.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSE

The congratulations of this column today go to the Container Corporation of America, better known as the strawboard, which is going into the Circleville Softball league with a vim and a vigor that is indeed gratifying. R. E. Norris, an executive of the firm, has been named manager of the team and will be aided by Red Lawhorn, who ran the strawboard team a couple of years ago, when Ab Reid's prowess on first base was the feature of the loop.

The C. C. of A. will use no players other than those employed by the firm—This ruling was made after a conference between Mr. Norris and Mr. Hunsicker, the plant's general manager, who is also a recreation ball enthusiast. An order has already been sent to the Chicago office of the firm for equipment — Mr. Norris and Mr. Lawhorn are to visit the ball field this afternoon with Mr. Justice, the service director, and the janitor of this column to determine how the field should be laid out.

But that's neither here nor there — The C. C. of A. general office is provided all the finance for the team — It is doing this in an effort to promote fellowship among its workers and to show that the company, too, has a civic spirit.

We wish there were a few more industries and business firms here which would go into the league in the same spirit the strawboard has shown — It not only would be a fine thing for the league and the city but for the industry or business as well — In several places there are almost enough employees to form a team right in the plant, but the fact that a company is backing a team does not mean that it has to use its own workers; there is no rule against taking players from outside — Since the expense of a team is not great we believe it is still possible that one of two local industries will yet enter the loop.

TEAM ON TOP

Giants Drub Boston; Koencke Hits, Stars in Field For Dodgers.

WASHINGTON WHIPPED

Cleveland: ~~Another~~ Heartbreaker, 4-0.

NEW YORK, April 21 — Bill Terry, manager of the world champion Giants, has little in common with his predecessor, the late John J. McGraw. Their systems are as different as their personalities. But both got results by following old baseball pennant recipes which read: "Stock the cripples and split with the tough ones."

Terry never lets up on the weak teams. He shows them the best pitching he has on tap. Believing that if he can knock the tailenders off of enough, life against the leading teams will be much easier.

That's one reason why his Giants today hold undisputed sway in the National league and four straight victories over the helpless Phils and the not too potent Braves.

Bill threw in three of his big four against the Phils and yesterday he took the blanket off Hal Schumacher. Hal was wild and ineffective but when he floundered, Bill had young Johnny Salveson, with a pair of specs, and a nice curve, ready to step into the breach. The Giants staged two big uprisings at the expense of Ben Cantwell and breezed in 7 to 3.

KOENECHE IN FORM

And speaking of uprisings, Len Koencke, the Dodger outfielder, put on one all by his lonesome. The lad who couldn't hit a loud pop fly when he was with the Giants, came to life with two homers and a pair of singles to say nothing of eight amazing catches in the outfield.

Old Casey Stengel is one of the greatest developers of young talent in the country and it may be that he will yet make a real ball player out of Koencke. Casey also uncovered a new rookie named Emil (Dutch) Leonard who held the Phils to six hits while shutting them out 5 to 0. It was the fourth straight defeat and the second successive shutout for the Phils.

Joe Cronin's Senators are finding

Of course, they are finding it difficult to catch either the Athletics or the Senators three straight times. The Senators pounded those of Connie Mack's alleged pitchers yesterday but the A's did worse than that to four of Cronin's men and the final result read: A's 9, Senators 6.

OWEN HIT TIMELY

Detroit and Cleveland staged an old fashioned pitching duel, the Tigers winning in the ninth when Marvin Owen doubled with the bases loaded, to give Carl Fisher a 4 to 0 decision over Lloyd Brown. The Tigers got only 8 hits off Brown but the Indians made only 5 off Fischer.

FARLEY

Curry faction of district leaders and those opposed to his leadership would also seek to have representatives named to it.

The leading spirit in the rebellion against Curry was Edward J. Ahearn of the fourth district and he will doubtless have a good deal to say concerning the make-up of the steering committee. He is considered to be the most powerful district leader in the city at the present time.

Curry was voted out of his high post early last night at a meeting of the Tammany executive committee. The circumstances, surrounding the ouster were highly dramatic.

In spite of their unprecedented action, the executive committee members assured Curry of their high regard for him as a friend and associate and there were numerous moist eyes in the gathering.

REFUSED TO RESIGN

Friends of the leader begged him to resign and avoid the humiliation of the ouster vote, but he steadfastly refused.

"Let them count me out," he insisted firmly.

Curry's removal marks a definite turning point in the policies of the Democratic party in this city. It was agreed by observers today. In the future the local organization is expected to operate in closer harmony with the state and national organizations.

BUY SOMETHING YOU NEED . . . NOW

The Chicago Police Department received a report Monday night that a man named John J. Farley, who was reported to be a father on a street in the city, had been seen in the city.

Chicago authorities assigned a patrol today to catch Farley, a dark-eyed, swarthy, 30-year-old man, who was reported to be a father on a street in the city.

Fearful that the man was a robber and killer, the police sent a patrol to catch him. The man was seen in the city and the police are looking for him.

The man was seen in the city and the police are looking for him. The man was seen in the city and the police are looking for him. The man was seen in the city and the police are looking for him.

SYNOPSIS
After three years in Europe, lovely Stanley Paige, young society girl, returns to New York. She phones Perry Deverest, who had been madly in love with her before she was rushed abroad following her father's death. Stanley, however, was not so sure of her heart at the time. Perry realizes, after seeing Stanley again, that he is still in love with her but feels himself against committing himself until his love is reciprocated.

CHAPTER TWO
"Still in your father's office, Perry?"
"That's right. And not very darn important down there either. But it pleases dad to see me hanging around—" He shrugged. He had wanted terribly to study landscape gardening but his father had refused to admit there even was such a thing. So Perry was an indifferently good lawyer and no longer mentioned ever having wanted to plan gardens.
"How's your mother?" Stanley remembered her as being an exceedingly stout woman with a mania for bridge and maroon glaces.
"Mother's fine. She's given up her bridge club and reduced twenty pounds. Doctor's orders. I must take you up to see her—she always thought you were nice."
"So did I," he added a second later, in a slightly different voice. "You know, Stan, I was rather badly in love with you that winter—it took me months to recover."
"Why did you let me go, Perry?" Stanley asked the question abruptly, staring at him over the unlighted tip of her cigarette. "Why didn't you marry me and keep me here. I'd have been much happier."
"You mean—you've been unhappy?"
She nodded. "Frightfully. Not that I knew it—at first, I mean. I just trailed around with Aunt Julie, not caring much. Then quite suddenly I cared a lot. All at once, everything seemed so sort of dull, so terribly futile. I felt as though I was missing something. Perry, something sort of sweet, you know—and terribly important." She laughed suddenly, a bit unsteadily. "It sounds silly, doesn't it? But some way I feel as if I must make up for something—if you see what I mean—sort of snatch at happiness."
Perry scowled reflectively. "I don't imagine it will be necessary to do much snatching."
"But I'm greedy, Perry," her voice was grave. "I want terribly to be amused. Are you much too busy to bother with me?"
He met her eyes levelly. Told her in his clipped, pleasant drawl, "I most certainly am not. It would probably be much better for me if I were." Then he asked her to go to a party with him that night.
"It's at Nigel Stern's. I don't believe you ever knew Nigel. I don't think that doesn't matter. He gives swell parties and you'll like him. I'll call for you at eight and we'll have dinner somewhere and dance and then about twelve we'll drop in at Nigel's. No use going there before then—his parties never get going until after midnight. How's that for a brave beginning, darlin'?"
"It sounds amazingly good. But are you sure you have tonight free?"
He grinned disarmingly. "As a matter of fact, I'm quite sure I haven't. I'm supposed to swell the

AT THE CLIFTONA
Marion Davies plays one of the most entertaining roles of her film career in the novel musical production, "Going Hollywood," her new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring vehicle which is to be seen Sunday and Monday at the Cliftona Theatre.
Bing Crosby, noted crooner of radio and motion pictures, plays the radio crooner role opposite Miss Davies.
Six jingly melodies have been created for the film by the noted composing team of Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed. "Our Big Love Scene," "Going Hollywood," "We'll Make Hay While the Sun Shines," "Temptation," "Cinderella's Ball," and "After Sundown," written exclusively for Miss Davies, promise to become nationally popular overnight.
To beautify the musical numbers, numerous original dance ensembles in gorgeous, colorful settings were created and supervised by Albertina Rasch, famous dance instructor.

UNDER SEALED ORDERS
With the dawning of each new day
We start on a voyage unknown;
Before us the great oceans lay
On whose breast the waves dash their foam.
Sure, our course is never defined;
We know not the reefs hidden there;
Chartered oceans lie now behind
As many a wreckage they bear;
What is in the distance beyond
We may know when the morrow has dawned.

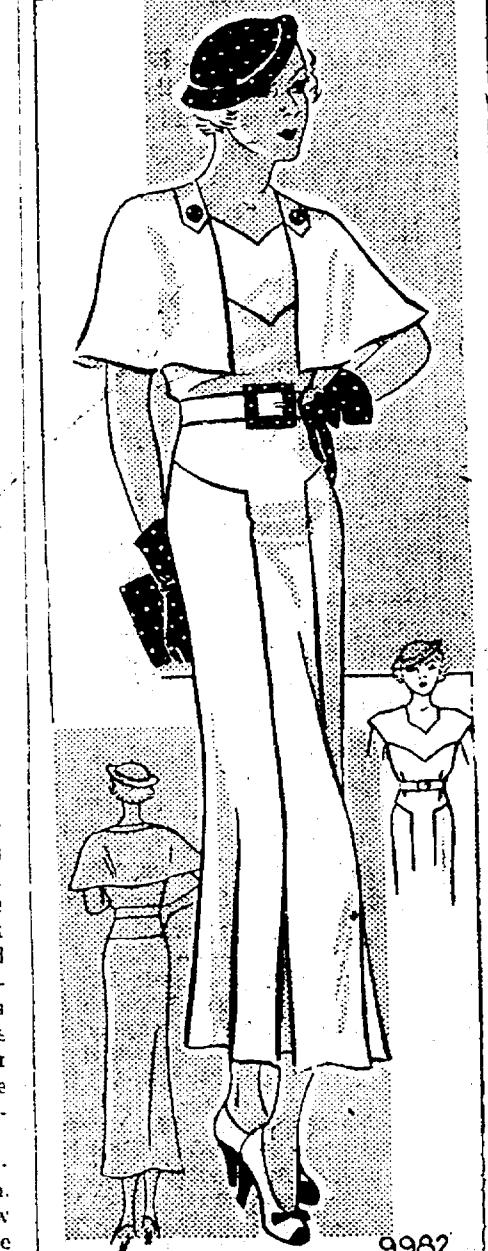

With faith in the Maker of seas
We sail under orders concealed,
Trying ever our doubts to appease
While our hearts by courage are steered;
The storms that may imminent be
The harbor which lies far ahead
Are not for us sailors to see
We gaze on sealed orders instead;
Yes, mariners sailing with trust
We know that the orders are just.

Don't Neglect Dog Bite No Matter How Slight

Injury Should Be Immediately Cauterized, Warns Authority, to Avoid Infection

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

"HYDROPHOBIA" or "rabies," as it is more commonly called, is primarily a disease of dogs. It is transmitted to humans by the bite of an infected dog. It is a tragic ailment and unless energetic measures are taken, it may result in a very serious case of disease.
A recent investigation shows that since the depression more homeless dogs than ever are wandering around the country. This is discouraging news and really is of great concern to the health of every community. Homeless dogs are a menace to unsuspecting children and adults. No one will deny that the danger of hydrophobia is increased by this unfortunate circumstance.
Menace of Rabies
Strange and stray dogs should be collected and given necessary food, shelter and hygienic care. Dejected dogs must be isolated and kept away from other pets and children. Of course, this is a harsh and often difficult measure, but accidents are all too frequent, and the danger cannot be overstated.
Every dog bite should be suspected as having in it the menace of hydrophobia. The suspected dog should not be killed. Notify the health authorities who will take care of the dog, keeping it under observation to determine whether or not it is a victim of rabies.
Antiseptics Ineffective
In the meantime, the bite should be immediately cauterized. Do not be satisfied by simply applying an antiseptic. No antiseptic is sufficiently strong, and benefit is only derived by complete cauterization. This can be accomplished only by the careful application of fuming nitric acid.

If the dog shows suspicious symptoms or if special tests reveal the presence of rabies, the Pasteur treatment for the victim should be started at once. This method is the only means of preventing the development of hydrophobia. It has saved thousands and thousands of lives.
Unfortunately, many persons neglect dog bites, regarding them as unimportant. They treat the wound with mild antiseptics and neglect the proper attention. When this has occurred, the Pasteur treatment may be ineffective and the victim succumbs to an ailment that could have been prevented.
Hydrophobia has been known to mankind for many centuries. But it is only within the present century that man has been able successfully to combat the disease. Its occurrence today can in most instances be traced to unnecessary negligence and carelessness. It is hoped that more careful attention will be paid to this disease so that it may be eradicated eventually.

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

By WILL ROGERS

ONE of the stories they tell about an animal trainer may have some little truth in it. They say this guy used to do the old trick of putting his head into the lion's mouth. He was good, and he made a hit with the reporters. So he got a lot of pieces in the papers about himself, and he wanted more money. So when he didn't get it he quit.

But the boss was mad. Somebody that wanted to write a piece about the lion-trainer said to the boss, "What did you let Johnson go for? That stunt of putting his head in the lion's mouth was the best thing you had in the show."
"Yes, but you reporters spoiled it. His head swelled up so he cracked the lion's jaw, and I had to let him go."
